Presidents Message

Hello from Nacitone,

We have been very busy this year getting the Museum area ready for our expected expansion of events being held here. Our first event held at the Museum was the March 25th chicken bar b q. The big news is we are moving the Dutch Oven Event to the Museum area. To help with this change there has been a shift in organizing who to contact for different volunteer choices. There will be separate articles about this in this newsletter. We have purchased 10 picnic tables, a portable office, and a shade structure. It doesn't seem that long ago that we were worried about the lack of rain, and now we working around rain, mud, etc. to plant trees and control weeds to add to the Museum's landscaping. This is just a small overview of our activities so far this year, as there is more detail information in the newsletter.

Trees

We have purchased trees and plaques for permanent display. You can use these plaques to honor your family, friends, or as a memorial.

There will be a plot diagram so you can choose your area at the Dutch Oven Event, or the first Saturday when the Museum is open, or contact Neil Whitty.

Price $100.00

New Office

We have purchased a 20qby 12qfoot portable office. The office is almost ready to be put into service. This will allow use to move office material from the Museum, which allows us to display more of the Museum's historical material.

Picnic tables

A.

We have purchased ten 6 foot tables with attached seats. They have been put together for use at events held at the Museum.

Carpport Shade.

We have chased a 20qby 40qby10qcarport/cover similar to the one at the Community Center

Annual Membership Dinner

Recap

On Saturday Jan. 28, 2023 we met at the Community Center for our annual organization meeting. We were entertained by a presentation put together by Pam Davis, and narrated by Donald Gillett and Lester Patterson. The presentation covered the beginnings of the Nacitone Museum to present day. A cannelloni dinner was catered by Lacy. A successful silent auction was held. Elections were conducted.

All of this was overseen by our MC Fred Forgnone.
